Q: Searching for multiple words in same row in PHP? I have a table with 2 columns (device and settings) and I would like to search for any of the words in settings (which is like $keyword) in any of the rows. If found, the row should get displayed. $keyword is defined in the form as: Here is what I am using to search through every row: $sql="SELECT * FROM myTable WHERE device LIKE '%$keyword%' OR settings LIKE '%$keyword%'"; My table looks like this: device | settings -----+----- 123 | 1234 456 | 1256 123 | 2345 789 | 23456 This will search for '123' in the settings and display row 2 and 3, but not row 1. It should display all rows with device 123. A: You could build a REGEXP to check for both keywords together: SELECT * FROM myTable WHERE device LIKE '%$keyword%' OR settings LIKE '%$keyword%' Your example shows, that they don't appear in the same row.
