A House Committee on Veterans Affairs hearing on Thursday ended in controversy when a panelist resigned from the panel over Republican Rep. Steve Russell's involvement in a trip to the Dominican Republic. The hearing was called to address complaints about the VA's handling of reports of animal abuse in its facilities, according to a press release from the committee. But Veterans Committee Chairman Phil Roe also announced the resignation of Republican Rep. Steve Russell from the panel due to Russell's participation in a trip to the Dominican Republic in November. Russell told Breitbart News he was invited to attend the trip by a friend. He noted that he is in the middle of his third term representing the 2nd District of West Virginia and said he has been a vocal opponent of the VA's operations in the state and would never accept a government-funded trip. "Representative Russell resigned today in response to a number of media reports and public opinion on his involvement in a trip to the Dominican Republic," Russ Feingold's Senate campaign wrote in a news release after the hearing. “Voting last night with no reservation to expel Representative Russell from the Veterans Committee further highlights the serious character concerns raised by members of the committee and the media.” Dating back to the late 1990s, Breitbart News has reported extensively on the corruption and fraud at the
