Q: Can I add support for further languages to a pre-existing PHP site? I have a website already set up in PHP with 3 language support: English, French and German, which has been running for a few years on Heroku, and the current PHP stack is nginx/php-fpm/PHP7. The hosting is managed by a virtual server and Heroku supports only PHP 5.4 and 5.5. My goal is to be able to support either PHP 5.4 or PHP 5.5 on the same site, by hosting it on DigitalOcean. I tried to do this but found that PHP 7 is no longer supported on PHP Fpm, and I can't find any other way of supporting it. Does anyone have any suggestions on the best way of going about this, short of re-engineering the site to use something like Laravel? A: You can deploy a system that is backwards compatible with PHP 5.4 and PHP 5.5 at the same time. What this means is that you can run PHP 5.4 on a server and PHP 5.5 on another server (backwards compatible), both of which will call the same libraries.
