When the 2017/18 season finalised, we'd reached a fairly natural point, where most of the leaders had finished the job we'd set out to do last year; we'd made PES the definitive soccer game, that could be played with a blend of friends, with the staff and with the support of a reasonable number of quality modifications. However, now that we've entered into the second part of the season, does the gap between PES and FIFA really get any wider? Or is this simply a phase that we're going through. I will add a little detail that the game looks really good for the league trophy. My question is that will it look good for EPL league trophy? PES 2017 Patch #4 Included.
