Tray Dialer also remembers the last number dialed and will redial it by double-clicking on the icon. Tray Dialer also allows you to manually dial any number quickly without needing to add an entry to your Speed Dial list. Tray Dialer Requirements: All programs that can be run in a Windows XP style icon must be installed: for example, Notepad, Paint Shop Pro, and Visual Studio. Known Bugs: The Tray Dialer program is not currently designed to support 32-bit applications. All supported versions of Windows XP, Windows Vista, Windows 7, Windows 2008, and Windows 8 are supported. Most non-English versions of Windows XP and Windows Vista are not currently supported. All versions of Windows that are not supported are not supported. Other Known Bugs: Depending on your PC architecture, Tray Dialer may not function on some motherboards. If you experience problems with the Tray Dialer program or are experiencing error messages while attempting to use the Tray Dialer, read the FAQs and check the FAQs section on the User Manual and on the Troubleshooting - FAQs section of this program's Web site. If you are unable to find an answer to your question in either FAQ, or in the program's User Manual, you can submit your own question and notification of its receipt using the "Contact Us" link located at the bottom of the Tray Dialer User Manual page. File Compatibility Issues Various features in Tray Dialer's program interface are designed to support the Microsoft Windows XP and Microsoft Windows Vista operating systems. It is possible that some Tray Dialer users with different versions of the Windows operating system than those supported by this program may find that the program is not fully compatible with their operating system. While Tray Dialer cannot be expected to support all versions of Windows, it is our goal to support as many as possible. Unfortunately, support for Windows Vista is currently limited to the Windows Vista desktop operating system and to the Windows Vista RTM 32-bit and 64-bit versions, while support for Windows 7 is currently limited to the Windows 7 desktop operating system. To ensure that Tray Dialer works on your platform, we recommend that you try to eliminate any issues with Tray Dialer's application interface by using the latest version
