Renal cell carcinoma (RCC) is the most common type of kidney malignancy.

Clear cell renal cell carcinoma (CCRCC) is the most common subtype of RCC. The disease is usually discovered at a late stage when the tumor has already metastasized to other areas of the body. Surgery is the current primary treatment for RCC and other neoplastic renal disorders.

Immunotherapy has become a major treatment modality for various solid tumors, including renal cancer [[@REF1]-[@REF2]].

The use of anti-programmed cell death-1 (PD-1) antibodies in renal cancer is an important step in the immunotherapy of renal cancer. There have been many studies which reported very good responses in RCC. Many anti-PD-1 antibodies have been approved by the FDA for the treatment of certain cancers. Since there is lack of clinical trials done in RCC patients, we present our results of using nivolumab in the form of compassionate use in the treatment of metastatic or locally advanced RCC. Case presentation

We present a case report of a 47-year-old male who had significant renal aortic stenosis (RAS) with calcified aortic valve replacement, as well as, renal artery stenosis. He also had significant bilateral lower extremity peripheral artery disease and developed end-stage renal disease for which he started hemodialysis. He had been on medical management with various vasodilators and was on trimethoprim-sulfamethoxazole (TMP-SMX) 800 mg twice a week for prevention of infections for the past three years. There was a palpable tender mass in the left flank in 648931e174
