“We’ve created a new animation engine that enables more realistic ball physics and a faster, more immersive playing experience on multiple platforms,” said Daniel Ehrlich, executive vice president of Marketing and Operations, EA SPORTS. “Superstar players are more diverse and fluid. Players can throw defenders around like rag dolls. They can beat defenders off the dribble before the ball even touches the ground. It’s a new era of football.” This year, FIFA introduces “Player Intelligence,” which takes the game to the next level by giving players new tactical and physical abilities on the pitch. “The player intelligence features will have a profound impact on how players can control the game,” said Peter Moore, vice president and general manager of the FIFA franchise. “You’ll become a true match-day manager and do things on the pitch that you couldn’t do before.” During gameplay, players will be given insight that allows them to make better decisions on the pitch. FIFA 22 introduces “Matchday” and “Manager Mode” gameplay. After every match, players will receive a Manager Mode report with a breakdown of their player statistics and personalized coaching videos. Players can then use the data from their Manager Mode reports to enhance their skills on the pitch. “Hitting the ball is no longer the default,” said Daniel Ehrlich, executive vice president of Marketing and Operations, EA SPORTS. “Whether a player, with the right play, can shoot, pass, dribble and score like Messi is now a regular occurrence in FIFA. A player who normally scores two or three goals a match now has the ability to score 10.” FIFA 22 also introduces “Real Player Motion,” an all-new animation system that uses motion capture data collected from 22 real-life, top-level players who played a full 90 minutes in a high-intensity match in full motion capture suits. This is the first time ever in any sports game that players’ movements have been captured on such a scale. The real-world data captured from the players’ body movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power the animation system. Powered by a new animation engine, all animations on the pitch are more lifelike and fluid. The more intensely the players move on the pitch,

What's new:

- Changes and improvements to passing and shooting mechanics.
- Improved ball control with a more responsive, tactile cue - the flight and textures of the ball have been improved to make you feel like a true baller.
- Improved near post heading mechanics. Goalkeepers now react more aggressively to headers in the air and thus jump toward the ball, while goalkeepers with the passing Target Control System can switch directions mid-pass.
- See more on-field action with Imax camera angles. Injuries will be seen on the pitch more accurately; ball contacts are clearer, and individual players display more of their individuality in how they move.
- Wingers can now combine attacks with overlapping runs. Wide midfielders will have more range to receive and switch the play.

FIFA is a football-only live service created and owned by

Electronic Arts Inc. Our dedicated team of developers work with our partners at the game developers FIFA, to create FIFA games that give fans the thrill of truly playing like their favourite footballers. FIFA video games are available on consoles, mobile devices, and on PC. I have an old account that I was wondering if they would be providing a way for me to link it to my current FIFA Ultimate Team account? I was able to link them with the FIFA 20 Ultimate team series but not the FIFA 21 Ultimate team, it seemed to generate a new account and not to merge with the old one, any comments on this please? (also I'm new to the forum and not sure if there's a proper place to post a question like this) Cheers Crimson Phoenix ? Edit: Can I use my old FUT account on FIFA 22? RnR3pl3n I want to use my old account for my FIFA 21 ultimate team for some reason EA is stopping people from importing from that account. MABE6729 I can't import my Team from FUT 21 to Ultimate team, I was hoping they would just merge the old and new accounts so I can keep my progress. CaptainBramc I want to use my old account for my FIFA 21 ultimate team for some reason EA is stopping people from importing from that account. Crimson Phoenix (also I'm new to the forum and not sure if there's a proper place to post a question like this) Cheers RnR3pl3n Relevant to this topic RebelEz I linked my FUT account on last year's EA release, and it did not work, I had to log into my old account and do the process all over again, and it did not work. Am I stuck? Dalek Blues I linked my FUT account on last year's EA release, and it did not work, I had to log into my old account and do the process all over again, and it did not work. Am I stuck? Also you can keep your old account and create a new linked account, it will still be synced up with your old account just with a new account. RebelEz I linked
